How to Play BRIDGE

A new series of lessons by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1926, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 17

The writer has pointed out many times in these articles the folly of bidding no-trump with hands that contain a singleton or void suit. Such hands seldom score game at no-trump unless partner has the missing suit, so with this type of hand bid a suit, if possible, on the first round. By so doing you will give partner and opponents a chance to bid, and your subsequent proceeding depends entirely on their bidding. Unless your partner bids the missing suit don't venture a no-trump bid, for it seldom produces a game. With such a hand a suit bid is preferable. The following is an excellent example:

Hearts—A, 8, 7, 3 Clubs—K, J, 10, 4 Diamonds—K, Q, 3 Spades—5, 3

Y : A B : Z

Hearts—Q, J, 10, 4 Clubs—A, 7, 3 Diamonds—J, 10, 9, 8, 4 Spades—A

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one diamond. This may seem an unsound bid, for he hasn't top cards in the diamond suit, but his two aces are compensating cards and the diamond bid is much sounder than a no-trump with the singleton ace of spades. A bid one spade, Y two diamonds, and B passed. Z now decided that hearts offered a better chance for game than diamonds, so bid two hearts, and all passed. He easily made four odd, while at no-trump A would have passed and opened his spade suit. Be on the lookout for hands of this type and don't bid no-trump with a singleton or void suit if you also have a suit bid that is justifiable. You will find that the suit bid is much more dependable and offers a much better chance for game.

Answer to Problem No. 20

Hearts—8, 5 Clubs—none Diamonds—A, 10, 9, 8, 5, 3, 2 Spades—K, 8, 7, 6

Y : A B : Z

Hearts—A, K, 7, 3 Clubs—J, 6, 4, 2 Diamonds—4 Spades—A, J, 9, 2

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A two clubs, Y two diamonds, and B three clubs. Z trumped in dummy with the six of spades. How should Z plan the play, and is it possible for him to score game? Z should endeavor to establish a cross ruff and use up all his trumps, if possible, in this manner. He should lead the five of hearts from Y's hand, winning the ace in his own. He should then lead a club from his hand and trump in Y's hand. This trick Z should win with the king, and lead another club, trumping in Y's hand. Y should then lead the ace of diamonds, trumping in Z's hand with the nine of spades. Z should then lead his last club, trumping in Y's hand with the king. Played in this way, Y-Z should score game, making four trump tricks and the ace of diamonds in Y's hand and three trump tricks and the ace, king of hearts in Z's hand. At trick four, however, B can save game by trumping Y's eight of hearts and leading trumps. This trump lead will prevent Y from ruffing the fourth lead of clubs and so save a trick and game. It is a pretty hand both on attack and defense, and should be carefully noted.

Answer to Problem No. 21

Hearts—K, J, 8, 6, 3, 2 Clubs—none Diamonds—K, Q, J, 9, 7, 4 Spades—9

Y : A B : Z

Hearts—7, 5 Clubs—A, Q, 7, 3 Diamonds—6 Spades—A, K, 7, 6, 5, 4

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one spade, A doubled, Y passed, and B bid two clubs. Z bid two spades, and all passed. The bidding of this hand is not sound, but the only question to be decided is: Can Y-Z score game at spades against the best defense if A opens the ace of diamonds and follows with a low diamond? Y-Z cannot go game if B trumps the second diamond lead with the jack of spades. If Z overtrumps, A is bound to make three trump tricks. If Z refuses to overtrump, A will make two trump tricks, saving game in either case. The hand is instructive as an example of one partner promoting another's trump holding by trumping in with his best trump, when sure or fairly certain that the opponent will also trump. Very frequently such a play will gain a trick, so be on the lookout. Note that if B trumps with the trey of spades, Y-Z will score game.

Answer to Problem No. 22

Hearts—none Clubs—A, J, 10, 8, 4, 3 Diamonds—none Spades—J, 10, 6

Y : A B : Z

Hearts—J, 8, 5 Clubs—Q Diamonds—10, 8, 7 Spades—A, 3

There are no trumps, and Z is in the lead. How can Y-Z so play the hand that they will win at least five tricks against any defense? Z should lead the queen of clubs and overtake with the ace in Y's hand. Y should then play the trey of clubs, forcing Z in the lead with the king. On this trick Z should discard the ace of spades. If he makes any other play Y-Z cannot score only one club trick, one heart trick, and two spade tricks. Play out the variations for practice, for it is a tricky little problem and worthy of careful study.

Ascot Program Is To Include Daring Drivers

Dirt Track Stars Will Furnish Thrills to Racing Fans

An attempt is being made by the Ascot management to sign Sig Haugdahl for the February 20 race program. Mr. Lutz, representing Ascot, interviewed Sig in Miami last week, but owing to other contracts Haugdahl was unable to sign. However, he is attempting to secure his release from his obligations in the east and it is believed that he will shortly be seen at Ascot. The Ascot races are attracting the attention of the greatest dirt track drivers in the world. Arthur Chevrolet has Jack Grafton on his way to the coast from the Indianapolis factory and he will make his debut here Saturday, driving a new Frontenac. Ray Armstrong, who won the midwest championship at the Hawthorne track in Chicago last October, is entered, and will drive a 188-inch Duesenberg. This boy has a great future before him, as he is absolutely fearless, with an unbeatable spirit. A large gang of men is at work completely resurfacing the track so that it will be in the fastest possible shape. The events get under way at 2:30, and free parking has been arranged for 15,000 automobiles.
